1. A workman in the prohibited peninsular area states that Wustrow airfield is in use. The runway is between 1,200 and 1,500 meters long, and is in the same position as the old German runway used to be before the occupation. It had been lengthened at each end.
2. No jet aircraft have been seen landing, taking off or parked in the vicinity, though jet aircraft have been flying along the coast.
3. The airfield has been used by an unspecified number of small piston-engined aircraft towing targets during artillery practice in the neighborhood.
4. Army troops, presumed to belong to the local artillery units, have been observed assisting in constructional work on extending the runways. A few airforce men have also been seen in the vicinity.
